What is Transport Initiatives?

Transport Initiatives is an independent transport planning consultancy, established in 2005. Our members all have extensive expertise in developing sustainable transport in general and cycling and walking in particular. They have many years' experience of putting this into practice for both public and private bodies at all levels.

We specialise in innovative ways of developing and promoting sustainable transport options, covering every step from initial strategies to managing implementation and monitoring outcomes. Our clients include central government in the UK and abroad, local authorities, other statutory bodies, large consultancies, developers, transport operators ... and anyone else who needs practical and achievable sustainable transport solutions.
