What is Transport Initiatives?

Transport Initiatives is an independent transport planning consultancy, established in 2005.

Our team has extensive expertise in developing sustainable transport in general and cycling and walking in particular, with many years' experience of putting this into practice.

We specialise in innovative ways of developing and promoting sustainable transport options, covering every level from initial strategies to managing implementation and monitoring outcomes. Our clients include central government in the UK and abroad, local authorities, other statutory bodies, large consultancies, developers, transport operators ... and anyone else who needs practical and achievable sustainable transport solutions.

What has Transport Initiatives done recently?
