What is Transport Initiatives?

Transport Initiatives is an independent consultancy, set up in 2005. Our members all have a strong in-depth knowledge of sustainable transport in general and cycling and walking in particular, with many years' experience of putting this into practice for both public and private bodies. Between 2002 and 2005 eight of our members were part of the influential English Regions Cycling Development Team.

We specialise in innovative ways of developing and promoting sustainable transport options, covering every step from strategies to implementation, for clients including local authorities, central Government, other statutory bodies, large consultancies, developers, transport operators ... and anyone else who needs practical and achievable sustainable transport solutions.

What has Transport Initiatives done recently?

- Part of Local Authority Professional Support Team – Arup/Cycling England
